

No Website - No Problem! Offer Online Options to your Families Using Web Page Links

Last Modified on 03/10/2021 12:29 pm EST

You don't have to have your own website to be able to offer your customers the convenience of online registration and online account management!

- ★ All of the web pages for the four online modules (Online Registration form, Class Listings Tables, Parent Portal, and Events Online) are hosted by Jackrabbit.
- ★ Give your customers links to the online module without having to have a company website.
- ★ Use your Facebook page, send an email, or print up flyers to give your customers access to register online for classes and/or events and to access their Parent Portals to manage their accounts.

Giving your customers access to online registration, account information, event information, and class listings can be life-changing for your staff. Time savings in entering registration information alone is huge. They also will be freed up from answering phone-in questions and account management details for parents.

Post Module Links on your Facebook Page

Post a link to any of the modules by copying the code into the body of a Facebook post. When you enter the code, Facebook will add a link. You will then be able to delete the code text that you added.

Pin the Post to the Top of the Page

Once you have published the post you can pin it so that it stays at the top of your feed, no matter how many posts come after it. When your customers go to your Facebook page the first post they see will be the link to your class listings.

Open the Class Listings to Register

The viewer just has to click on the link you added and the Class Listings Table will open with class information and a link to register for classes. The registration link will open your Online Registration Form.
